

City of Richmond Hill Inventory of Cultural Heritage Resources

April 2026

Introduction

What is this document?

The Richmond Hill Inventory of Cultural Heritage Resources provides key information on Richmond Hill's designated and listed properties that are of cultural heritage significance or interest. The document is used to assist in the identification of the City's heritage resources based on the information known at the time of publishing.

Designated properties

A property that has been individually identified under Part IV of the Ontario Heritage Act, or one that has been identified due to its location within a Heritage Conservation District (HCD) under Part V of the Ontario Heritage Act is referred to as being a "designated" property. Designated properties have protective by-laws registered on title that describe the property's cultural heritage value, and the associated by-law numbers are noted in the entries.

Listed properties

A listed property is a property that is believed to be of cultural heritage interest, but has not been fully evaluated for its cultural significance under the Ontario Heritage Act. A property may be added to the Inventory of Cultural Heritage Resources as a listed property through Council's direction.

1. How the Inventory is Organized

Properties in this document are catalogued in alphabetical order based on their respective street addresses.

2. Ward Information

The property's ward number is noted beside the property's address.

3. Property Names

The name(s) associated with the property are noted after the property's status and ward.

4. Property Status Information

The property's status is noted after the property's address. "Listed" refers to a non-designated property and "DES" refers to a designated property.

5. Legal Description

The property's legal description is noted after the property's name.

6. Property Description

Descriptions of each property are noted after the name(s) associated with the property, in the following order:

Construction

Where a building is known to be of timber frame, solid brick, or brick veneer, such distinctions are given, otherwise the general terms of "frame" or "brick" are used.

Exterior finish

The current exterior sheathing or finish. "Brick clad" refers to a building that originally had another exterior, but at some time was faced with brick. Where an original or earlier finish is known, it is listed under historical data.

Storeys

Number of storeys in a structure.

Date

The date of construction. "c" refers to circa, and "(v)" refers to a verified date. For example, c1860 indicates an educated guess, c1860 (v) indicates that documentation shows a building being known to have been built around 1860 but the exact year is unknown, and 1860 (v) indicates that the building is known to have been built in 1860.

Plan

The basic plan of the building. If a building has significantly different components or is a combination of two or more joined buildings, the components are listed separately.

Architectural Style

If a building can be identified as being created in a particular architectural style, a stylistic name is listed.

Significant Features

Any distinctive built or landscape features on the property.

Owner/Occupant

The owner(s) and/or occupant(s) of the building. The first name is given to the original owner(s), unless otherwise noted.

Builder/Architect

The builder(s) and/or architect(s) of the building.

History

Describes any significant owners, uses and/or other names associated with the property's history.

Alterations

Describes any significant alterations and additions made to the structure, as well as the structure's original form, style, and/or characteristics before the alterations were made.

Other Known Addresses

The previously known addresses of a building if it has been relocated or if an address change has occurred.

Potential Heritage Interest

Elements of potential heritage interest on the property besides the principal element, such as farm accessory structures.

7. Designated Properties

If the property is designated under the Ontario Heritage Act, the corresponding designating by-law is listed after the property's general description. If the property is located within a Heritage Conservation District (HCD), the name of the HCD will be listed.
